Alexander (Alex) Arkfeld is a litigation attorney at Fraser Stryker practicing in the areas of appellate, class action, commercial litigation, and insurance defense. Recognizing that the litigation process can be distressing for clients, Alex strives to be an advocate who can be trusted completely.

By its very nature, litigation is confrontational, and clients are often faced with enormous consequences. Alex is uniquely prepared to be a trusted litigator for his clients. As a former college baseball player, Alex's competitive spirit means that he will work tirelessly to achieve the best possible outcome. And as a former law clerk to both a trial judge and to an appellate judge, he is intimately familiar with the litigation process from start to finish. Having had a "behind-the-scenes" look at the decision-making process, Alex has the skills to provide the court with quality oral and written arguments for his clients.

After living and working on the West Coast, Alex's strong desire to play an active role and make a difference in the Omaha community brought him back to his home state. Prior to joining Fraser Stryker, Alex was a law clerk at the Washington State Supreme Court for the Honorable Justice Sheryl Gordon McCloud from 2018-2020, and at the United States District Court, District of Oregon for the Honorable District Judge Michael W. Mosman from 2020-2021.

Alex earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Washington School of
