Olivia Norman is a litigation attorney representing clients on a wide variety of matters including appellate advocacy, contract disputes, collection actions, labor and employment matters, and insurance defense litigation. She is committed to partnering with her clients to tackle complex and high-pressure situations.

Olivia's work experience prior to law school – teaching in underserved communities for Teach For America – led her to pursue a legal career so that she could arm herself with the tools necessary to enact change. As a former college athlete, Olivia's knack for never backing down from a challenge permits her to be a fierce advocate for her clients. She thinks outside of the box to counsel and represent her clients, helping them achieve their desired outcomes.

Prior to joining Fraser Stryker, Olivia took on a wide variety of corporate and litigation matters at a full-service law firm in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She served as head of both the civil litigation and corporate counsel divisions, advising clients on administrative matters, labor and employment disputes, and regulatory compliance. Olivia also served as a judicial law clerk for the Honorable Judge Shelley Grogan in the Wisconsin Court of Appeals. She received her Juris Doctor from Marquette University Law School as well as a Sports Law Certificate from the National Sports Law Institute.
